

Watch Out for Purse Snatchers!

Seven easy rules to ward off theft

- Never store your bank card together with your PIN!
- Always carry your money, important documents, credit cards, etc. close to your body. It is best to use a closed inside pocket.
- Keep handbags and shoulder bags shut and carry them in front of you and against your chest or tightly clamped under your arm.
- Don't ever leave luggage and valuables unattended. Keep handbags and jackets containing wallets in sight.
- You should be suspicious if someone bumps into you or if someone does something that results in soiling your clothes (like bumping into you and spilling ketchup on your clothes) – it could be a ploy!
- Carry your backpack in front of you in crowded areas. Wallets or valuables like mobile phones should never be stored in exterior pockets.
- If you should become aware that your money, mobile phone, or other valuable is missing, contact the police immediately (e.g.: the federal police in the Munich main train station – located at track/platform 26)

On the complete festival compound backpacks and all types of big bags are prohibited.

Avoid Crime, Gett Help!

What to Do If Confronted With Violence

Do what you can to avoid violence before it begins. Don't ever let a situation escalate into a confrontation!

Don't go out alone. Use well-trafficked streets.

In dangerous situations, self-confidence, assertive body language, or yelling loudly can help.

Ask specific bystanders or passersby for help! For example: "Hello, you in the black jacket – please help me!" Or – "Hello, you in the brown suit – call the police!"

Be Considerate!

Keep level-headed when using public transportation

When arriving at the stop "Hackerbrücke", be prepared for large crowds of people during rush hours.

Be considerate of others and always follow the orders of the train personnel.

The German Federal Police will maintain a constant presence during the operating hours of the street car (S-Bahn) at the "Hackerbrücke" for your security.

Stay behind the security line at the edge of the train platforms! Do not underestimate the danger of the "pull effect" caused by passing trains!

Cross the tracks only at the designated places!

Convict Criminals!

Support police investigations

We need witnesses in order to prosecute criminals. If you are a witness to a crime, come forward and contact the police. Your statement can be crucial.

Crime victims should always file charges with the police. Help the police in their investigation to find criminals and prevent future crimes.

How to Help In Dangerous Situations!

What to do if violence escalates

If a dangerous situation escalates into a violent one, do not take action and do not go near the perpetrator! Notify the police as soon as possible!

You can help at the scene of a crime by calling loudly and persistently for help.

Make eye contact with the victim. Yell loudly: "I'll help you! I'm going to call the police!"

In case of emergency while using public transportation, pull the emergency brake.

Help even if you have to gather your courage and even if your efforts will take additional time. Perhaps you will also need help one day.

Be Careful at the ATMs!

Tips for safely withdrawing money

Do not become distracted or involved in a discussion while withdrawing money. Terminate a transaction if anything seems suspicious to you (e.g., a broken or detached keypad, an altered card slot, or even suspicious people). Inform the police immediately!

Give Back the Beer Steins!
